

CAMINO DEL INCA

Cafayate, Salta

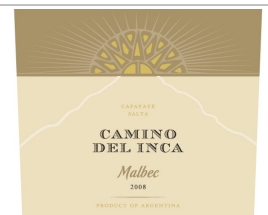

Experience the Best of Salta's Terroir

The Southern part of the Inca civilization once ruled where Camino del Inca's estate vineyards are now located in Cafayate, Salta. Salta is in the extreme northwest of Argentina and boasts the highest vineyards in the world (6,000 feet above sea level), which results in a day-to-night temperature difference of over 50F, creating extremely concentrated and flavorful grapes. The unique terroir is high desert with poor, sandy soils, perfect for growing Tannat, Malbec, Syrah and Torrontés. The winemakers are Paul Hobbs and Luis Asmet, the vineyard manager is Marcelo Casazza, and the owners and managers are the Romero family. Salta is a vital and unique Argentine grape-growing region, and we believe Camino del Inca is the best representative of this exciting place.

Camino del Inca Malbec

This Malbec beautifully expresses its Salta terroir: aromas and flavors of red fruits, plums, blackberries, and earth. It is an easy-drinking wine, with sweet tannins and a long finish.

Camino del Inca Torrontés

This Torrontés beautifully expresses its Salta terroir: explosive aromas and flavors of tropical fruits, white flowers, and honeysuckle. It is balanced and lively in the mouth.

Camino del Inca "Quipu Blend"

Just as the Incas wove their intricate histories into the quipu, so our winemaker has crafted a stunning, complex wine that exemplifies the terroir of Salta.

93 points, Wilfred Wong: "An incredible red, the alluring '07 Camino del Inca Quipu Blend shows power and class on the palate; ripe fruit with an accent of violets."
